Form 990, Part III, Line 4a- Educational Programming (continued)

Challenger Center's main program is our simulated STEM missions. This program was originally developed in 1986 but has evolved to keep up with technological and education trends over the last 30 years. Today, we deliver this program in more than 40 Challenger Learning Centers around the world, and we are currently piloting a new platform to deliver this program in school classrooms. Our unique and proven teaching model gives students the chance to become scientists, engineers, and other STEM professionals as they solve real-world problems and share in the thrill of discovery through role-playing and simulation.

Space-Themed Missions at our Centers:

Using space exploration as a theme, our Challenger Learning Centers deliver a truly impactful learning experience to more than 250,000 students each year. Each Challenger Learning Center has a custom-built environment that enables students to suspend reality for a simulated journey to space. This includes a realistic but child-sized spacecraft and mission control. Students are charged with an inspiring mission goal such as to search for life on Mars or to explore the Moon.

Students experience the mission as a group, but are assigned specific roles, such as geologist, navigator, doctor, or communications director. During the mission, the students work independently, in teams, and as a group. The mission cannot be completed without real teamwork and constant communication. Challenger Learning Center staff simulate emergencies and other events to provide opportunities for creative problem solving.

Students leave our missions feeling empowered by their achievements. They will have made real connections between the science they learn in school and exciting STEM careers. They are inspired to engage more with STEM and see new opportunities for their lives. Many Challenger Center alum have gone on to become engineers, scientists, and even STEM educators.

EngiLearn - Classroom-based STEM programs (AKA Investing in Innovation (i3)):

In 2014, Challenger Center received a $3 million, four-year Investing in Innovation (i3) grant from the U.S. Department of Education. i3 grants are designed to support local educational agencies (LEAs) and nonprofit organizations in providing innovative solutions to common education challenges that can serve as models of best practice.

Since receiving this grant, Challenger Center has developed the EngiLearn technology platform that drives the simulation and created an ocean-themed mission for 5th grade students that can be delivered right in the school classroom. Similar to the missions we deliver in Challenger Learning Centers, the EngiLearn mission is a hands-on, interdisciplinary, and standards-aligned experience that drives home STEM concepts and gives students the opportunity to practice skills like collaboration, communication, and creative problem solving. In 2015, we finalized the program design and completed the alpha version of the EngiLearn software. We worked closely with our partners in Virginia, including several school districts and the University of Virginia, and we finalized the evaluation metrics with our external evaluator.

In the 2016-17 school year, the program will be piloted with 3,000 Virginia-based students from a wide range of socio-economic and geographic backgrounds. 1,500 students will experience the EngiLearn ocean program and 1,500 students will serve as a control group. Our evaluator will compare the outcomes from the test and control groups toward the end of 2017, at which point we will decide our next steps. Ultimately, this project provides the base development for a new program that could extend our reach to millions of students each year.

CodeRed: My STEM Mission:

At the end of 2015, Challenger Center was awarded a cooperative agreement in collaboration with NASA to engage learners of all ages around the goals of NASA's Science Mission Directorate. The development and execution of CodeRed: My STEM Mission will take place over a five-year period (2016-2020) and include programmatic components that will reach students, teachers and parents in and out of the classroom. The program will include the design and launch of mobile apps to excite students about STEM careers and prepare their parents to continue that excitement in the home, and it will feature a series of educational Engagement Days. In addition, Challenger Center will use innovative approaches to instruction, like flipped classrooms and interdisciplinary models, to even further expand our footprint and deepen our impact.
